Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, Ohio

Volume 51, No. 14

LOOKING AT THE final draft of the Academic Policies Committee statement on academic honesty at the University are: Dr. Leedy, provost, Dr. Hooley, chairman of the honesty committee; Dr. Weber, chairman of faculty senate; and Tom Liber, president of the student body. After two years of work, the statement was recently approved by President Jerome.

Dr. Jerome OKs 'Honesty' Report

University President William T. Jerome has approved a statement developed last year by the Academic Policies Committee of the Faculty Senate concerning academic honesty at the University, Dr. Paul F. Leedy, Provost, announced recently.

Dr. Agnes M. Hooley, professor of health and physical education and chairman of the Senate committee, said the statement was the result of two years of work.

The report was submitted to the Senate on March 15 and amended and approved by the Senate on April 19.

"This statement represents a direct attempt to involve both students and faculty in a solution to an old, old problem," Dr. Leedy said.

The committee agreed that academic dishonesty includes any behavior in academic matters which procures an unfair advantage for students or faculty members.

After consultation with the President's Advisory Council and the officers of Student Council, an appeals committee, proposed in the report, will be appointed by the President to protect the rights of both students and faculty members.

Tom Liber, student body president, said that copies of the report will be available to students through the Union Activities Office and residence halls this year. He said he hopes to have the report in the Student Handbook next year.

The committee pointed out in the beginning of the statement that "there must be a deliberate and careful all-University effort to elevate student and faculty mores on cheating and plagiarism. This will take intensive effort by both groups."

The report said that each faculty member can show active concern with the problem of cheating by including early in each course a statement of his policies with regard to cheating and plagiarism and statements about examinations within the specific course, including frequency, kinds, and importance.

The committee recommended that insofar as possible, temptations to possible cheaters should be removed. Its suggestions included:

a. Only new tests should be used; samples of course tests may be filed in the Main Library at the option of the instructor.

b. In instances where test items are similar to past test items, strict security should be observed so that copies of such items are not taken from the test area.

c. Testing of large groups should be held in places other than the Main Auditorium.

d. There should be provision of sufficient proctors for the group being tested. Assistance should be provided by instructors and, where necessary, by student assistants.

The report further said that faculty members should exemplify the highest levels of academic honesty at all times.

A list of offenses against academic honesty was included, along with penalties the committee recommended for them.

In the area of cheating on tests or other assignments, the first offense on the record of the student will constitute failure in the course, while the second offense will mean suspension from the University for one year, after which time the student may re-apply.

Stealing or selling tests will mean expulsion from the University.

Plagiarism is to be defined by each instructor with reference to the special field in which the student is working.

The first offense in this area means failure on the paper, while the second offense constitutes failure in the course.

Attending class for someone during a significant portion of the course without permission of the instructor means suspension from the University for one year with the option to re-apply. The same penalty applies for arranging for another person to attend class in one's place during a significant portion of the course without permission of the instructor.

Faculty Wants Clarification In 'Quarter Controversy'

By LARRY FULLERTON
Managing Editor

Two resolutions concerning the relationship of the University, the faculty and the Board of Trustees to the Board of Regents and its chancellor, Dr. John D. Millett, were passed by the faculty yesterday.

The resolutions were presented at a special faculty meeting called by President William T. Jerome at the request of the faculty. The purpose of the meeting was to review and discuss the sequence of events in which the proposed change to the quarter system has been recommended to the University.

The real issue is the manner in which this proposal has been presented to an independent state university and its Board of Trustees, Dr. Karl G. Rahdert, vice chairman of Faculty Senate, explained.

The first resolution was presented by Dr. Sheldon Halpern, president of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

It states there is a need for clarification of authority between the Board of Regents and the Board of Trustees of the state-assisted universities and that the faculty of the University will not abandon its share in determining the academic policies of the University.

The resolution says that whatever action is taken by the faculty concerning a conversion to the quarter system will be with the express understanding that no recommendations will be forwarded for action until the Board of Trustees is satisfied that the clarification of authority has been made.

To provide background, a portion of the "Master Plan for State Policy in Higher Education June, 1966" was included. It says, in part, that the Board of Regents is not a governing board and that the authority of government (for each university) is vested in the Board of Trustees.

"The role of the Board of Regents is essentially advisory and stimulative. The Board cannot direct or order action which in any particular instance it may think highly desirable."

"Being neither a final authority in setting state policy nor a governing board for individual institutions, there is a real question concerning the extent to which a state planning agency in higher education can be effective."

The second resolution, introduced by Dr. Grover C. Platt, professor of history and past chairman of faculty senate, puts the faculty on record as "... strongly objecting to any practices by the Board of Regents or the Chancellor thereof, which would use the Budget or Budgetary system as a means of forcing

IFC Elects Treeger Pledge Council Head

By MIKE KUHLIN
Staff Writer

James Treeger was named as Interfraternity Pledge Council advisor Monday evening by the Interfraternity Council.

Treeger has served IFC as representative of Zeta Beta Tau, has covered meetings as a reporter for The News and is a member of the IFC public relations committee.

Treeger's job will entail working with representatives of the 18 fraternities on campus. These representatives are all pledges of the fraternities and as such do not have a governing body of their own.

He is a senior from Syosset, Long Island.

The IFPC studies subjects relating to the growth of the fraternity system on campus and undertakes projects designed to benefit both the campus and the community.

In other action, Floyd Ramsler, administrative vice president, announced a rush evaluation meeting today at 6 p.m. in the IFC office. Evaluation of this fall's rush program and suggestions for the future will be discussed.

All fraternities were reminded to sign up rushees going through open rush this week at the IFC office. Registration is today from 1-3 p.m.; tomorrow, noon-2 p.m.; Friday, 3-5 p.m.; Saturday, 10-12 a.m.; and Monday, noon-2 and 3-5 p.m.

Dr. Russell Decker, adviser to Pi Kappa Alpha, approached Council with plans for their fraternity's 25th anniversary on campus, to be held March 10-11.

It is the intention of Pi Kappa Alpha to involve all fraternities in their events marking 25 years of Greek life at the University. Interfraternity forums, panels and speakers will be among the highlights of the weekend.

Quarter Comment

The major controversy of the school year may already be upon us.

It is the attempt of Dr. John D. Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, to force the University to adopt the quarter system and a common calendar with other state schools beginning in the fall of 1967.

Now the four main components of the University will have the opportunity to comment on the matter--the Board of Trustees, administration, faculty and students.

We are primarily concerned with the students and Student Council, the representative body.

The students must be heard and should be heard. A sudden change to quarters would affect the students' graduation requirements, the students' summer vacation (or work) schedule, and many other matters of importance to students.

Student Council should mirror student opinion now--not a month from now. Opinion polls, telephone surveys and stepped-up personal contact through representatives should be employed.

Before the final decision is made, the decision-makers must be made aware of the student's views.

The News urges the members of Student Council to find out student opinion and convey it to the Board of Trustees as soon as possible.

LETTER TO EDITOR

We'll Never Match Harvard's Dullness

I was so entranced with Mr. Taft's enlightened view-points on Bowling Green's social activities that I felt I must congratulate him. Rarely have I read an article exhibiting in such superb form the intellectuality of Bowling Green's masses.

I noted, as did Mr. Taft, that our professors "escaped the wrath" of Mr. Gaydos' pen. I was at a loss for an explanation of this phenomenon since it is so widely known how actively our professors participate in Bowling Green's fascinating bed races and pie-eating contest. It seems odd that they were not also indicted.

I strongly support our champion's statements concerning the conservatism running rampant on our campus. It must be flagrantly obvious to the worst sort of dullard that our Greek events will do much to foster liberality, awareness, and scholarly attitudes at B.G.S.U.

"Is an all-day bike race such a waste of time?" Emphatically not. How else could one spend a day packed with so much meaning? It would be difficult to think of any more enjoyable and memorable way to live twenty-four hours.

To close, I can only say that, yes, I'll keep my memories. Will I remember the great ideas and philosophies I've been exposed to while at college? Will I remember the professors and friends from whom I've learned so much? Will I remember the jokes about the ketchup, the food in the dorms, and the wind and rain? Will I remember the laughter, good times, and good friends? No, I'll remember what made it all possible; and that is the mud tugs, pie-eating contest, and bed races.

No, Bowling Green isn't Harvard; and it will never even approach Harvard's dullness as long as concerned persons such as Mr. Taft grace our university and keep the monumental, afore-mentioned events in the limelight where they belong.

Protests Injustice In Court

I have just been convicted of parking in a metered parking area that I have just been notified by student court that I can not park in. In all fairness the court did suspend sentence and as an apologetic gesture offered not to count the ticket as an actual violation. I must admit that I am honored to be victimized by the first dress rehearsal of traffic court.

I was convicted on the basis that freshman and sophomores are only permitted to park in lot #6 which is part of the same code that says metered parking areas are open to all, including full and part-time students. Being desirous of acting within the law, I read the rules and regulations pertaining to the parking of an automobile, so when I put money in the meter it never occurred to me that I would get a ticket for obeying the rules and regulations, as stated in the manual.

We then asked for an injunction preventing issuance of further tickets pertaining to situations similar to my own, pending the outcome of my appeal. At this point, Mr. Ward, faculty advisor, became very indignant at the thought of my counsel having the audacity to ask for such an injunction. Mr. Ward then announced that the court was powerless to issue such an injunction. This in essence is an admission on the part of the court that they are powerless to stop injustice and by the same token, therefore, unable to render justice.

MAC Laughing Stock?

As the Falcons prepare for this week's game at Toledo University, I think a few facts should be presented and a few comparisons should be made.

No BGSU football team has lost two consecutive games since Kent and Miami pulled the trick during the 1958 season.

No Falcon team since 1954 has lost more than two games in a season.

Coach Bob Gibson's teams are one loss away from losing half as many games in two years as Doyt Perry's lost in 10 seasons.

Former coach Perry held a 31-1 record against non-conference foes, while the present coach holds a 3-2 record against non-MAC teams. It was 2-1 till we lost to that "football powerhouse" Tampa which has a total enrollment of 2,000 (that's more than 1,000 less than BG's freshmen class).

I certainly don't attribute our dismal showing to the players. Many great football schools would love to have a Rivers, Weger, Wingate, Souliere, Siesel, or Porowski (only space prevents me from listing more). We have 21 lettermen and a 1-2 record when we should be 3-0. Our troubles are many--such as instituting the fumble as our main offensive weapon.

It appears that two losses will now eliminate a team from contention in the MAC. Since we gave a game to Western Michigan last week, our magic number to disaster is one, and next on our agenda is TU, Kent, and Miami. With three of our typical games against these schools, we could be assured of a losing season before we even play our last three games.

Yes, this Saturday is one of many important upcoming games. It's time for the coach to decide if the team will be a title contender or the laughing stock of the Mid-American Conference.

GOOD LUCK!

'In Crowd' Jars Lover Of Jazz

By JACK HARTMAN
Columnist

The one night stand of the Ramsey Lewis Trio brought to mind a high school classmate, we'll call him Jeff, and his worship of the group and their kind of music.

Jeff was only a moderate jazz buff in high school but when college and freedom from parents came he went "gung ho" over the sounds.

And the Ramsey Lewis Trio was his group. They could do no wrong.

To this columnist the music was more like extraneous sounds with a beat, but to Jeff it was "love at first sight," straight A's and similar moments of ecstasy all rolled into one.

The thing that Jeff coveted the most was that this was his group. None of the rest of us could possibly dig the trio. We couldn't understand it, we didn't have time to learn to appreciate it and we didn't really want to learn.

Jeff found his individuality and identity in the trio.

We might be better students or more popular but we couldn't touch him and his trio.

Then came the iconoclastic record--the image-breaker.

'In Crowd' by the Ramsey Lewis Trio hit the markets and sold like wildfire, topping the sales charts in many cities.

Suddenly all the bragging and building up ceased. The vaunted trio had gone commercial. They had watered down the perfect jazz product "just to sell records."

Even though they kept most of the characteristics of their "pure" performances, it wasn't the same. Jeff knew it and we knew it.

He tried to rationalize his way out of it.

"They must have needed bread (money)," he said but it didn't hide his disappointment.

The good and right image was broken. The identity was shattered. The one much promoted source of individuality was exploded.

Life went on for Jeff. He didn't give up on jazz but he lost some of his enthusiastic verve. He didn't talk quite as much or quite as loud about his later idols.

He wasn't so sure that jazz was as pure as he once thought. He lost faith in the people that played and talked about it.

Jeff was certain of one thing. He wanted to play it and someday reach the heights of Ramsey Lewis Trio before commercialization.

Only he would not do wrong.

SOPHOMORES John Betchik and Nick Licate are shown trying to persuade Karen Henning to sign a petition which they have started and intend to send to the Board of Trustees. The petition urges the Board to continue the present semester system rather than change to the quarter system as suggested by the Ohio Board of Regents.

Petitions Back Semester Plan

Two University students are circulating petitions urging that the Board of Trustees continue the University on the semester system.

John Betchik, and Nick Licate, both sophomores in the College of Liberal Arts, instituted the petitions after the Trustees meeting Friday considering the request by John D. Millett chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, that the University go on the quarter system in September, 1967.

Printed at the United Christian Fellowship center, the petitions were first circulated at the Crypt Saturday night and now are being distributed campus wide.

By yesterday noon, Betchik and Licate had collected 200 signatures. A small number of persons are assisting them at present, but the originating pair hopes to add more workers in the next few days.

"We want this to be a measurement of the student's concern with both the new system and the tactics used to initiate it," Licate said.

Betchik added: "We want to coordinate the efforts of the students and the faculty in opposition to this measure. We hope to show there is a strong feeling on the part of the University against the state's attempt to force Bowling Green to give up its autonomy."

Honesty

Expulsion from the University is the penalty for taking an examination for another person or arranging for another person to take one's examination.

In other cheating, the first offense means failure in the course, and the second offense constitutes suspension from the University for one year with an option to re-apply.

A further provision of the report said that every instance of academic dishonesty shall be reported to the Dean of the College in which the student is enrolled and to the Dean of the College in which the course is taught, either by the instructor or by a student in the class where the incident occurs.

"Original jurisdiction in cases of academic dishonesty shall lie with the instructor, the dean of the college in which the student is enrolled, and the Dean of the college in which the course is taught," according to the committee's recommendations.

The committee also recommended that a University committee be established to assume appellate jurisdiction in cases of academic dishonesty. The appeals are to be sent in written form to this committee, with copies to be filed with the Dean of the College in which the student is enrolled and the Dean of the College in which the course is taught.

This committee will include one or more representatives of the faculty, students, and the Office of the Dean of Students. A majority of the non-student members of the committee shall be from the teaching faculty.

The report pointed out that due process will be observed in the hearings of this committee.

groups. Mr. Bryson said the number is constantly growing.

Since August, 1965, over 40 conferences concerning such subjects have been held here. Many conferences were open to students.

Conferences at the University in the past have ranged from the Sugar Beet Institute and the Governor's Youth Traffic Conference, to the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs and the United Rubber Workers Union.

Richard Bryson, director of space assignments, said the University is constantly attempting to expand this program by inviting new groups to the campus.

There are three basic types of conferences held at the University, conferences open to the student body conferences of a non-educational nature. The latter conference is paid for by the sponsoring organization.

The schedule of conferences this year includes more than 30

Placement Office Reports Upcoming Summer Jobs

The Placement Office has announced the 1967 Summer Employment Examination dates to be given in more than 1,000 cities throughout the country on Nov. 26, Jan. 7, and Feb. 4. Students must apply to take the test before the filing dates Oct. 21, Dec. 9 and Jan. 9.

Glenn Rosenthal placement assistant, said "Most students are thinking about everything but summer employment, but in some areas it is important for the student to think ahead."

"To date," Mr. Rosenthal said, "approximately 17 firms have obligated themselves to interviewing undergraduate students for summer employment." The Placement Office has been notified of opportunities for the summer in governmental work and social work as offered by the Health and Welfare Council, Inc. of Baltimore, Md.

Students must take the Summer Employment Examination to be eligible for positions offered and may do so on any of the dates previously mentioned. Application forms may be obtained at the Placement Office located on the fifth floor of the Administration Building, and must be filed on or before Jan. 9.

"There will be many more opportunities for summer employment as the year progresses. The Placement Office, in cooperation with Dr. John Darr, summer internship co-ordinator, has contacted many industrial firms about hiring undergraduates for the summer," said Mr. Rosenthal. "We advise students to consider their plans for next summer, and encourage them to investigate how the Placement Office can be of service to them," he said.

Parking Allowed In Reserve Lots

The reserved parking areas are open to student parking after 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and all day Saturday and Sunday, Spencer T. Calcamuggio, chief of security, said.

Calcamuggio said autos not registered to park in the reserved lots will receive parking tickets when the lots go back on reserve basis at 7 a.m. Monday.

BG Participates In College Series

Thomas J. Colaner, director of admissions, announced yesterday Bowling Green will contribute an episode to the "Your College Guide" television series sponsored by the Ohio College Association.

The show will be taped today at WTOL-TV in Toledo.

The series will consist of more than 50 one-half hour episodes, with each episode devoted to a different Ohio college or university.

Admission policies, financial aid programs, academic courses of study and general characteristics of each college or university will be discussed.

BGSU Branches Have New Name-Academic Centers

The University branches are no longer "branches."

Dr. Ralph H. Geer, director of off-campus programs told The News today that branches in Fostoria, Fremont and Sandusky are to be designated "academic centers."

The change was a result of a recommendation made by the Ohio Board of Regents.

Staff and faculty were requested to exhaust the supply of all printed material bearing the name "branch." All new publications should use the name of "academic center," Dr. Geer said.

PAUL PHILLIPS

Welsh Singer, Songwriter To Perform

Paul Phillips, Welsh entertainer and songwriter, will offer folk music enthusiasts an evening of traditional and contemporary folksongs in an appearance here at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in Recital Hall.

Mr. Phillips began his career singing in British music halls. He performed at London's Festival Hall, then appeared throughout Canada.

He entered the United States in 1962 and performed at the Seattle World's Fair for six months. Later he was spotted by a talent scout from Disneyland, and worked there, complete with concertina, eyepatch and sword for more than a year.

Recently Mr. Phillips has played the major folk rooms in America and Canada, and has performed on Canadian television and radio.

He has also lectured on folk music and has made a commercial album with Folkway Records entitled "Folksongs and Ballads of the British Isles."

The concert is sponsored by the University folk music club, "The Folk." Admission is $1, or .50 cents for club members. Tickets are on sale in the Union Lobby and will be sold at the door.

IFC Elects

In other business Treeger, Antea representative to Council, reported the Greek All-Events Trophy will be determined on a point basis as in the past.

Ten points will be awarded for first place, seven points for second, five for third and four for fourth place.

In addition six points will be given to any sponsor of a greek event and two points for every house that participates in a function, excluding the first four places.

The dispute over last year's trophy winner between Theta Chi and Sigma Nu will be settled by an appeals board. Until such time that the dispute is settled Alpha Tau Omega, past winner, will retain the trophy.

Tim Smith, adviser of IFC, reported on the advance sales for the Phyllis Diller show, Nov. 19. Each fraternity man on campus will be required to sell two tickets to the concert. Tickets will be mailed to the treasurer of each house.

All fraternities will be required to sell tickets in the Union on an assigned date. Seven men will be required from each house to fulfill the obligation. Tickets are being sold at $2.00 and $2.50 apiece.

Material Pickup Dates Announced

Housing units which have decoration material stored by the University custodial service and wish to pick them up before Homecoming should contact the custodial service as soon as possible.

Two times have been set aside when a truck will be provided to take the material from the service area to the housing unit.

The first trip will be made tomorrow from 2 to 4 p.m. and a second trip will be made next Tuesday from 2 to 3 p.m.

There must be at least one representative from the housing unit to accompany the truck. The custodial service should be notified in advance by calling Mrs. Lyn Dawson, ext. 2284.

Difficult Problems Solved for Sport

The University's mathematics department has been introduced to the sport of solving difficult math problems as a pastime.

Dr. Paul O'Meara a new addition to the department this year, brought the idea for a difficult math problems booklet with him from Alberta University in Canada.

The booklet, containing problems starting with third and fourth year college difficulty, is now available in the mathematics department in Overman Hall.

According to Dr. O'Meara, the idea originated in the mathematics department at Alberta when professors began exchanging their favorite difficult problems.

"Eventually the booklet became a collection of problems from famous mathematicians," Dr. O'Meara said. Guest speakers were invited to add their favorite stumbers to the collection.

Campus Calendar

Folk dancing begins Saturday at 7 p.m. in the Dogwood Suite. Dances will be taken from a variety of countries, including Scotland, Greece, Israel and Russia.

Instruction will be given. All who are interested are welcome.

The Committee on Christian Social Concerns will hold its second meeting of the year at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the U.C.F. center.

All persons interested in campus reforms and social organizations are welcome.

Any individual presently a member of or interested in joining either the Student Peace Union or Students For A Democratic Society are invited to an organizational meeting tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. at the U.C.F. Center.

The Spanish Club will hold its first meeting today at 8:30 p.m. in the Capital Room.

Elections will be held, year-book pictures will be discussed, and slides of Spain will be shown. Everyone is invited to attend.

The Bowling Green Committee for a Reasonable Settlement in Viet Nam will meet at the U.C.F. Center today at 7:30 p.m. for a "work-in" session.

Interested students and faculty members are urged to attend. Plans will be formulated for the year.

The first meeting of Beta Beta Beta, biology honorary society, will be held at 6:30 p.m. today in 204 Mosely Hall.

The Young Democrats Club will hold its organizational meeting for 1966-67 at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Taft Room. All interested persons are welcome.

New students to the student chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the first floor of Hayes Hall today through Friday. Any student, regardless of college, may join.

The Office of the Registrar again reminds students who have received educational aid benefits from the Veterans Administration that they must re-enroll for the present school year to remain eligible for further benefits.

Re-enrollment forms are available in the Registrar's Office in Room 110 of the Administration Bldg.

Freshman study skill sessions will be held tonight at 5:45 p.m. in 201 Hayes Hall.

Dean Fayette Paulsen will speak on "Reading-How to Outline and Underline."

All freshman are urged to attend.

Logan Elm Offspring Blooms Here

A Historic Family Tree

A descendant of the days of the Ohio Indian is living on the University campus.

Yet, most students are hardly aware of it, though for nearly two decades it has stood a silent sentinel in front of South Hall.

The survivor of this Indian era is a tree--but a special tree.

Now nearly as tall as South Hall, the tree--an elm--is a seedling of the historic Logan Elm.

The late E.C. Powell, former chairman of the industrial arts department, brought the elm seedling to the University sometime during World War II, according to reports.

Powell, interested in Ohio history, obtained the seedling by chance. During a visit to the original Logan Elm in Circleville, he received one of the three seedlings distributed.

Another tree from the original Logan Elm now grows in Washington D.C., while another shades part of the state house lawn in Columbus. The original Logan Elm died in 1964 after 200 years.

But Bowling Green's Logan Elm heir still lives on.

The elm now stands nearly 30 feet tall, and bears on its trunk a black patch--the scar of a wound received when a violent wind storm in 1960 split its trunk.

The story of the original Logan Elm is a famous part of Ohio history. (The Union's Historical Suite wall displays a portion of the scene that supposedly took place under the Logan Elm.)

The history of the Logan Elm begins when the family of the Mingo Chief Logan was massacred in the spring of 1774 allegedly by white men under the command of a Captain Cresap. Chief Logan made war and killed many settlers in revenge.

After the battle of Point Pleasant on the Ohio River, the Indians--except Chief Logan-- were ready to sign a peac treaty. Col. John Gibson was sent to obtain the Mingo chief's signature on the treaty. They met under the large elm 190 years ago.

An eloquent speech was given by Logan at this meeting. Thomas Jefferson's "Notes on Virginia" included the speech, which has been translated into several languages.

The famous speech begins: "I appeal to any white man to say if ever he entered Logan's cabin hungry and he gave him not meat..." Logan went on to tell how he had been a friend of the white man until his family was murdered and then he had to seek revenge.

The Logan Elm of Bowling Green is one of two famous trees on campus. The Shakespeare is the other. Dedicated to the English bard, the Shakespeare Tree grows in front of Moseley Hall. The Shakespeare tree is marked by a stone and plaque. But the Logan Elm of Bowling Green is unmarked.

Band Album Now On Sale

"Echoes of Mid-America" featuring the University Symphonic Band is on sale in the University bookstore and at the Alumni House.

The album is a collection of the fight songs and alma maters of all the schools in the Mid-

American Conference.

The price is $3 and the album is available in either stereo or monaural. Directing the University Symphonic Band for the recording was Roy J. Weger. He is a former faculty member of the School of Music.

President's Secretary Reveals Strategy

You Have To Know 'The Boss'

"As a secretary, you have to learn to know the boss," philosophizes Mrs. Helen Ladd.

And Mrs. Ladd has quite a "boss" to know.

She is the attractive "right-hand man" of President William T. Jerome. Her name appears on the Administrative Bldg.'s 10th floor directory as "secretary to the president."

As President Jerome's personal and business secretary, Mrs. Ladd explains that she has many unseen responsibilities, as well as normal secretarial duties such as typing and taking dictation.

"Her role as a secretary makes her live a life which is not her own," President Jerome said. "Besides handling telephone calls, dictation, and secretarial duties, she has to handle a temperamental president of a University."

"She handles student requests with ease, I think this is because she has two children of her own," Dr. Jerome said.

Mrs. Ladd feels that her main goal "is to remove details from the President's mind." "He is very insistent that no one be kept waiting," she said.

So, Mrs. Ladd is probably the only person on campus who can interrupt the President--and get away with it, with a smile.

A modest person, Mrs. Ladd would rather talk about the admirable qualities of her employer, than about herself. Yet, she isn't giving any Presidential secrets.

But in particular, Mrs. Ladd admits she admires Dr. Jerome's thoughtfulness the most.

"He often takes time from his busy schedule to remember a friend, or to write a thank-you note," she said.

Mrs. Ladd has been with Dr. Jerome since he came to the University three years ago. A native of Wood County, she was graduated from Bowling Green High School, and received her degree in business education from the University.

Her varied career has included teaching and two years in the University Alumni Office.

Mrs. Ladd has two children;

a son, recently graduated from Muskingum College and a daughter, a senior at Bowling Green High School.

"As a secretary, you have to know the boss," reaffirms Mrs. Ladd. So she has learned to work her schedule around his and she attempts to learn more about his interests by reading and observing.

PRESIDENTIAL SECRETARY Mrs. Helen Ladd begins another letter for her 'boss'--William T. Jerome. She has been in that position for three years.

Dr. Cooper Honored With Service Award

Dr. Samuel M. Cooper, chairman of the physical education department, has been awarded the Outstanding Faculty Member Award for the month of October by Theta Chi social fraternity for service to the University.

The award is presented monthly by Theta Chi and is on display in the first floor lobby of the Library. The recipient is chosen by a board of faculty members.

Dr. Cooper received his bachelor of arts degree from Oberlin College in 1936, his M.S. from New York University in 1937, and his Ed.D. from Western Reserve University in 1955.

Dr. Cooper has taught and coached at Bowling Green since 1946. Prior to joining the faculty he coached at Sandusky and Bellevue public schools.

Dr. Cooper was swimming coach from 1946 to 1963. He compiled a record of 179 wins and 32 losses, winning six Mid-American Conference championships.

The professor established soccer, lacrosse, and ice hockey as University sports. He is a member of the Long Range Planning Committee in Physical Education, Athletics and Recreational Facilities.

Dr. Cooper was "Faculty-Man-Of-The-Year" in 1959 and president of University Senate for 1963-64. He is a member of President's Advisory Committee, Faculty Senate, and the Executive Committee.

Dr. Cooper is a member of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity and has served as the local chapter advisor for seven years. He is also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, men's Greek honorary; Sigma Delta Psi, athletic honorary; and Phi Epsilon Kappa, physical education honorary.

Theatre Plea: 'Help Wanted'

John H. Hepler, designer-technical director of the Joe E. Brown Theatre, has put out the "help wanted" sign for students interested in working in the theatre workshop.

The workshop, located behind the Joe E. Brown Theatre in the basement of University Hall, has been in operation since the dedication of the theatre in October of 1961.

The workshop serves a dual purpose. Sets for major productions and one-act plays are built there and it also serves as a training ground for students interested in the theatre as a major field.

Anyone interested in the theatre is urged to donate time in helping make sets for the plays, Hepler said.

There are also five other crews which students may join. They are the props, make-up, light, stage, and costume crews.

WBGU Schedules TV Kindergarten

"TV Kindergarten," a pre-school Educational Television (ETV) program, was televised over WBGU-TV at 6 p.m. yesterday commencing a series of Monday through Friday telecasts.

The program purchase was made possible through the cooperative efforts of the Ohio Educational Television Network (O/NET) and its eight affiliated stations. WBGU-TV is a member of O/NET.

O/NET has loaned 10 tapes to KNME-TV, Albuquerque, N.M., where "TV Kindergarten" is produced, specifically for the master video tape "dubbing" pool and furnished 10 additional tapes to Ohio's pool to which each of the Ohio ETV stations also has contributed.

The program attempts to prepare pre-school children for their first year in school by presenting activities for children and parents to participate in while the show is on or off the air.

Science, safety, pets, history, geography, art and music comprise the program content.

Absentee Voters Must File Soon

Secretary of State Ted Brown has reminded qualified Ohio voters who will be away from their home precincts on election day that they have until 4 p.m., November 3, to file absentee ballots. This is five days before the election.

Froelich Toppled Kickers To Show From News' Poll Improvement--Hall

All good things must come to an end, and so it was for freshman Ray Froelich, whose domination of the News' Pigskin Poll for the last four weeks came to an abrupt halt following this week's competition.

Froelich, who the week before had guessed 16 of the 20 outcomes correctly, slipped to a 12-8 mark this time.

His replacement as top pollster is Bowling Green's varsity basketball coach, Warren Scholler. Scholler predicted 14 right, and will return to defend his title in this issue.

Top predictor overall was sports editor John Gugger, who managed a 16-4 mark.

George Goulding and Craig Pickering closed out their first and only attempts as panelists in somewhat less than spectacular style. Each picked 11 out of the 20 contests correctly.

The News' gave every pollster a gift in the won-lost records by crediting everyone with a victory in the Minnesota-Indiana game, which finished in a 7-7 tie.

This week's panelists include Burt McCarty, a junior in the College of Education, and Susan Wizard, a sophomore in Liberal Arts. Bob Hayek, a sophomore in the College of Business, is the third panelist.

Assistant Sports Editor

"We should be winning."

Bob Hall, BG soccer team goalie, expressed a sentiment shared by Coach Mickey Cochrane and the rest of the Falcon team as to the reason for the team's first two losses.

"We have a good team, the best soccer team this school has had," Hall continued. "There is no reason for our losing."

But the kickers have lost two games by a total of two goals, and in both games the Falcons started out in the lead.

I think the reason is that we seem to suddenly lose our composure," Hall said. "The other team builds up momentum, and we haven't been able to recover or come back."

But Bob feels the team will start coming back as soon as it hits its peak.

"With a forward line that scores seven goals in two games, we should win," Hall said.

Bob, a senior, who originally came to Bowling Green to play baseball, lettered in both soccer and baseball at Hackensack High School in New Jersey.

He is a history major and a speech minor in the College of Education and a member of Beta Theta Pi social fraternity.

"The biggest difference I noticed between high school and college soccer was the officiating," Bob said. "It's worse here."

But BG soccer has improved considerably in the last couple of years, and Coach Cochrane attributes this partly to the playing of Hall, his first string goalie.

"Bob has been a co-captain the last two years," Cochrane said, "and last season he made 95 saves in eight games, a BG record."

It is Hall's spirit that Cochrane had special praise for.

"Bob comes up with some spectacular shots because he gets high for the games and has a great desire to do well," said the coach.

Although Bob is one of the hardest workers on the team, he has one disadvantage that he will never be able to overcome. He is only 5-9.

"Bob is weak on high shots because of his height," Cochrane said, "but he is very conscious of improving his game and works on it all the time."

Bob Hall

Steve Petercsak is one of the major reasons why Hall has improved so much.

"Steve is the second string goalie, and is good enough to keep Bob on his toes," Cochrane said.

Rowe, Smith Named Players Of Week

COLUMBUS--A pair of defensive standouts who guided their teams to victories last Saturday are the Mid-American Conference back and lineman of the week.

Bob Rowe, Western Michigan's giant tackle, was chosen for his contributions to the Broncos' 16 to 14 triumph over Bowling Green.

And Bob Smith, Miami's defensive safety, got the nod for his stellar role in the Redskins' 7-0 decision over Kent State.

Rowe, a 6-4 245-pound senior, figured in over 40 tackles, 15 of them unassisted, and helped stop Bowling Green's running attack.

The Flushing, Michigan, product also recovered two fumbles

Coach Cochrane has tremendous regard for his teammates."

This morning, the team will travel to Akron to tackle the undefeated Zips.

Akron has compiled a 6-0 record this season, and according to the Akron sports information director, the offense consists of "a wide open game which emphasizes the short pass."

The Zip attack will be centered around All-Midwest pick Jim Fronte, who can play anywhere on the front line.

Coach Cochrane had much praise for Akron, and considers them the best team BG will play this year. But he also believes the Falcons can win it.

"Akron plays Michigan State Saturday, and we hope to catch them napping," said Cochrane.

"Our capabilities haven't been shown yet," continued the coach, "and if we put forth a full game effort, I feel we have as good a chance to win as they do."

bles and forced a third with all three errors being cashed into points.

Smith, a junior from Cincinnati, made five solo tackles, recovered one fumble and forced another in the defensive battle with Kent. His alert play helped Miami check Kent without a pass completion in seven tries.

Other nominated for back of the week honors were Bill Devine of Western; Tony Balsamo, Ohio University; John Schenider, Toledo; Ed Jones, Bowling Green and Jim Heaton, Marshall.

Linemen nominated included Gil Bowsher, Miami; Jerry Jewson, Ohio; Henry Burch, Toledo; Denny Zolciak, Bowling Green and Hal Bennett, Marshall.

Gridders Hoping To Bounce Back

"We are going to play hungry, angry, whole people this week and those players who fill these categories will be in the lineup against Toledo University," University football coach Bob Gibson said yesterday.

The Falcons are preparing for this Saturday's homecoming contest at Toledo after dropping their opening Mid-American Conference contest to Western Michigan, 16-14.

This marked the first time since the 1954 season that Western's Broncos have beaten Bowling Green. Toledo hasn't stopped the Falcons since the 1954 campaign either.

"Right now, there are four or five positions on the team up for grabs," Gibson stated. At least one of these positions is wide open because of injuries.

Linebacker Joe Siesel, a two-year veteran, suffered an ankle injury during the Western game and is a questionable starter against the Rockets. If Siesel can't play, his position will be filled by either Frank Giganti, Roger Schmidt or Dave Reese.

On the other side of the injury coin, middle guard Jim Porowski is expected to be back in the lineup Saturday, as is defensive tackle Henry Orr. Porowski has been out of action since the Tampa game, while Orr missed most of the action against the Broncos.

After the Western game, Gibson named tackle Jerry Hunter as this week's "Mr. Block" while the "Mr. Tackle" nomination went to linebacker Dennis Zolciak, who was in on 16 tackles.

The "Mr. Back" award went to split end Eddie Jones, who caught four passes for 94 yards against the Broncos. His grabs for 33 and 38 yards set up BG's touchdowns in the first and third periods. He is leading the Falcons in receptions with eight for 142 yards.

Looking back on the Western game, Gibson said, "When you turn the ball over three times in four-down territory, you are in trouble." Western got its hands on three Falcon fumbles inside the Falcons' 40-yard line.

For the year, the Falcons have fumbled eight times and have lost seven. Looking back for the entire 1967 campaign, Bowling Green lost 10 of 14 while the figure stood at four of 12 in 1964.

On the bright side, Gibson said, "I was pleased with our passing game. I think a team had better respect it or we can hurt them with it." Quarterbacks Russ Jacques and Dick Waring completed eight of 17 passes for 133 yards. Jones was on the receiving end of four while Chet Boyer, Paul Garrett, Mike Weger and Charles Radich each caught one.

BG Hall Of Fame Inducts 8 Members

Eight new members have been elected to the Bowling Green State University Athletic Hall of Fame.

Athletic Director Doyt L. Perry announced yesterday Harold Anderson, Paul E. Landis, Carl Bachman, Earl Whittmer, James Inman, John Hartman, Donald Otten and Bernard Casey have been selected by the seven-man university-alumni committee.

The men will be inducted at the athletic-physical education department breakfast on Homecoming morning Oct. 22.

Anderson was head basketball coach and athletic director here from 1942 until his retirement in 1965. His cage teams appeared in six National Invitational tournaments and three NCAA tournaments while he was establishing one of the nation's top coaching records at 504-226.

He developed 10 All-Americans, eight at Bowling Green and two at the University of Toledo where he served eight years as head basketball coach.

Landis served the university from 1925 to 1942 as head basketball, track and cross country coach and was an assistant in football for 14 years. His teams won four Northwestern Ohio Conference basketball championships and became a standout team in the Ohio Conference.

He left the university to become state supervisor of health, physical education, recreation and safety and became assistant commissioner of the Ohio High School Athletic Association in 1958. In 1963 he was appointed commissioner.

Whittmer is recognized as one of the all-time Falcon baseball greats. He pitched 26 consecutive innings of hitless ball including two no-hit games against Defiance and Ashland.

Captain of the 1921 baseball team that won Bowling Green's first intercollegiate championship, Whittmer was an end and halfback in football for four years.

Bachman was a five-sport man at Bowling Green, winning 13 varsity letters and gaining all-Northwestern Ohio Conference honors as an end in football and guard in basketball. He also excelled in baseball and tennis and was a member of the first BG track team in 1923.

Bachman holds the national record for points-after touch-down by placement at 19, made in BG's 151-0 win over Findlay in 1921.

Bachman's Findlay High basketball team won the 1948 Class AA championship, one of five undefeated regular seasons in accumulating 477 victories. He was the first president of the Ohio Basketball Coaches Association, and is now director of athletics at Findlay High.

John Hartman was a three-sport man at Bowling Green and was recognized as one of the top track athletes in the Ohio Conference in 1935. He won three events in the 1935 Ohio Conference meet at Wooster with victories in 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 220-yard hurdles. He dominated the 220-yard dash honors for three years in the OC meet.

He also lettered in football and basketball at BG besides being active in all musical organizations. He is now director of instrumental music at Bryan city schools.

Inman was an all-Ohio Conference fullback at BG in 1935 and captain of the 1936 team. He also was a three-year letterman in basketball. Besides being president of the varsity BG club and one of the first members of Sigma Delta Psi Fraternity.

Inman was also the first graduate assistant in physical education. He coached at Perrysburg and Hillsdale, Michigan high schools and is now director of athletics and recreation in Hillsdale.

Otten, who stands 6-11 1/2, was one of the first "big" men in the national basketball picture. From 1942-46, he led the Falcon basketball team to three National Invitational tournaments.

He gained All-American honors and was chosen most valuable player in the Chicago Invitational tournament over Bob Kurland and George Mikan as BG beat national champion Oklahoma State.

Otten played 10 seasons of professional basketball in the Basketball Association of America and the NBA. He is now an industrial engineer in Lima.

Casey, still active in athletics, is in his sixth year as a flanker with the San Francisco 49ers. He was the number one draft choice in 1960.

At BG, Bernie was a Little All-American as the 1959 Falcon eleven was claimed the national college division champions and excelled as a hurdler. He won three MAC high hurdle championships and finished third in the 1960 NCAA and Olympic trials.

Casey is also recognized as one of the nation's top young artists, having had several shows in San Francisco and Bowling Green.
